FLORIDA DEATH TOLL INCREASES

Known Fatalities Placed at 250 in Stricken Area

That May Mount Greatly as Other Regions Report

Tremendous Property Loss Also Revealed in Area

Selby, chairman of the Palm Beach Red Cross, may grow to 1000. At the same time the estimates of property damage mounted. Selby was quoted, figuring it at $25,000,000 alone in Palm Beach county, and Senator Joe T. Robinson said it was being estimated at between $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 in the affected area.

The Democratic Vice-Presidential nominee made this statement on arriving in Jacksonville after a trip through the storm-ravaged territory.

OKECHOBEE DEATHS

From the southeast, southern and immediate territory bordering Lake Okeechobee came reports of death and suffering resulting from the West Indian hurricane which last Sunday came out of the Atlantic and buried itself on that land.

Relief expeditions penetrated the territory from Miami and wired back for more aid for the homeless and helpless, made so by the fury of the storm.

One hundred National Guardsmen were ordered to the Palm Beach areas for duty and two batteries of artillerymen dispatched to Lake Okeechobee.

Reports in need of food, cloth, hats and many other supplies, wrecks of homes and other structures faced Red Cross and other workers who bend every aid to succor the wounded and the needy.

ELEVEN IDENTIFIED

Of the dead, eleven are identified and 130 unidentified. Seventy-six of the unidentified dead are negroes.

The unidentified dead are given as two negroes at Jupiter, four negroes at Delray Beach, fifty negroes at Lake Worth, and two negroes at South Bay. In addition there are reported ten unidentified whites among the dead at Tahoka, twenty at Belle Glade, fifteen in the Okeechobee City area and seventeen in the Palm Beach area.

The identified dead are John Andrew, Sinker, Mrs. Bremich; Bob Pink, negro, Jupiter; Ella Jones, negro, Delray; Will Jones, negro, Delray; infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neels, Kelsey City; Mrs. Arthur Neumann and daughter, Kelsey City; Mrs. Smith, Pahokee, Wallace, negro, Belle Glade; West Brooks, negro, West Delray; Julia White, 78 years of age, Delray.

Tahoka, a town of 1500 persons on the eastern side of Lake Okeechobee, reported the largest death list. Both sides of the town and the south side of Lake Okeechobee in the South Bay, from which place casualty reports also were received.

In addition to these reports, which came through the Miami News, a man named Beardsey, at Lake Park, about six miles east of Clewiston, which is on the western side of Lake Okeechobee, telegraphed that bodies had been recovered from Miami Canal at Lake Harbor and that thirty-five other persons are missing.

ASK FOR TROOPS

Gov. Martin, at Tallahassee, announced receipt of a message from a member of the National Guard who says the two thousand persons who have been killed at Okeechobee and that several authorities had requested military aid. At the same time, he announced he had granted a request of Adj.-Gen. Collins to send National Guardsmen to the storm-stricken city of West Palm Beach.

The upper of these pictures of the disaster shows the beautiful tropical vegetation of the famous winter resort in ruins while the lower visualizes a prominent downtown street in West Palm Beach with demolished store fronts, torn electric wires and unroofed structures.

Beach to give "whatever assistance said he had enough doctors but more nurses are needed."

The Governor said that 100 National Guardsmen had been requested by the Mayor of West Palm Beach. He said that he had been informed that two batteries of Guardsmen had been sent to Okeechobee City in response to a request for military aid.

Gen. Collins ordered investigations to the stricken area on the lower east coast around Lake Okeechobee and Moore Haven to ascertain the situation.

A message received by the Governor through Asheville, N. C., and signed by the Palm Beach Town Council said that the situation was "serious" and "nearly all houses had been damaged and are open." The police force, the message said, is insufficient to cope with the situation.

The message was filed from the station house at West Palm Beach, via Lima, O., and Ashe- ville, N. C., to the Florida Gov- ernor.

The caretaker of the Rodman Wannamaker home, wired the place was "ruined." Walls of home topped by heavy winds and valuable furnishings water-soaked." Fire Chief Shultz estimates the damage to the Wannamaker home had reached $20,000.

A message from Daytona Beach, signed Murphy, asked the Governor's aid in clearing highways out of West Palm Beach.

The coconut tree was described as similar to wrecks tossed about by heavy winds. The trees were felled and the ferns beaten down, hundreds of little homes struck and a number of high hotels marred.

Having established relief bases at all east coast points in the storm area, the Miami relief committee of citizens, functioning under the Red Cross, reached into the interior today, giving emergency medical and nursing service.

The Red Cross indicated that the hurricane is the worst in the history of the West Indies, and summarized the relief work which already has been started. An appeal was made for the greatest sum which can be raised by the combined efforts of the local chapter and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

First in the field with an announcement of a benefit for the relief fund is the Hotel Manager's Association, which is arranging a lengthy program for the evening of the 29th inst. at the Olympic Auditorium.

CHAOS REIGNS IN BLEAK CITY

West Palm Beach Filled With Debris of Disaster

Destruction Everywhere as Result of Hurricane

Glass and Wreckage Fill All of Main Streets

WEST PALM BEACH (Fla.) Sept. 18. (P.)—A blanket of wreckage has been tossed by Nature in ruthless fashion over what only three days ago was one of the picturesque playgrounds of the nation. The waving palms and cocoanut trees have been razed, the ferns have been beaten down, hundreds of little homes have been struck and a number of the large hotels have been marred.

This city and Palm Beach, across the inlet from here, are strewn from end to end with debris. Both look as if they had been pounded for hours by the fire of heavy artillery. The approach to either is through a torn countryside.

SCENE OF HORROR

First, on the way here is noticed a piece of roofing in the roadway, then a few scattered pine boards. Then a little nearer and a telephone pole is down. After this a house with a roof on, next a house, moved from its foundation and then a house caved in.

The closer the approach to the city, the greater the scene of destruction. The streets are cluttered with the rubbish of wrecked homes. From one house the roof is gone, another has had the top story blown away. At a corner a filling station has caved in the top of a palm tree has clogged the gutter and water has backed up inches deep. Wires sag from the light poles and swing carelessly over the street to catch in the top of an automobile.

GLASS EVERYWHERE

Boards with rusty nails are strewn across the streets and motorists constantly are changing their own tires for the large roomy garages seemed to have been the favorite target for Nature to fire upon.

In the business district the wreckage is piled high almost without exception every structure felt the force of Nature's attack. Glass is missing from nearly all windows. It can be found on all the streets. Automobiles struggle to move about between the splintered light posts. Some of the streets are so cluttered that they have been roped off.

Men in Guards uniforms take up the duties of traffic officers at most corners and wave their rifles to direct traffic instead of tooting a whistle. Here and there attempts already are under way to clear the wreckage.

RELIGION HELD BASE FOR WELFARE WORK

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18. (P.)—Social welfare work in which religion does not play an important role is futile, said George J. O'Conor, director of Catholic charities in St. Louis, in an address at the national conference of Catholic charities in session here today.

THE HISTORY OF TAMMANY

until he actually took his seat at Washington more than a year later.

So notorious were the operations of the Forty Thieves that the city was as unwilling to let him go as from the Alderman, the power to appoint policemen, and to sit as judges, to abolish the Assistant Aldermen and to establish in their place a Board of Councilmen of sixty. Tweed had a graceful exit from the situation and Congress, he was warned, other members of the Forty Thieves not to seek re-election. Most of them headed his advice and the ticket of the city reform party was swept into office by heavy majorities.

But in the language of another Tammany man, Tweed later said, "Tweed knew that 'them reform parties is like queen hornets; they sting you once, then die." Tweed retired to Congress and to semiprivate business and died, his time. He knew another opportunity for plunder would offer itself.

DETAILS PLAN
I want to get the delegates from the United States, Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy to meet at Paris, and try to reach an agreement, especially on the question of disarmament, by which we can get the members of the League of Nations to accept.

Estimates tonight were that about 1000 of the Union soldiers will sweep down the line of march, while others unable to stand the march will ride in automobiles.

The closer the approach to the city, the greater the scene of destruction. The streets are cluttered with the rubbish of wrecked homes. From one house the roof is gone, another has had the top story blown away. At a corner a filling station has caved in the top of a palm tree has clogged the gutter and water has backed up inches deep. RELIGION HELD BASE FOR WELFARE WORK

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18. (P.)—Social welfare work in which religion does not play an important role is futile, said George J. O'Conor, director of Catholic charities in St. Louis, in an address at the national conference of Catholic charities in session here today.

"And we are only beginning to get the aftermath of the hurricane," concluded Mr. O'Conor.

TALES OF TRAGEDY

Tales of unusual tragedies began to come in from all directions. At Cayee a mother was found with a child in each arm. All three had been almost cut in two by flying sheets of zinc roofing. Lieut. Pollard of the U. S. Navy, who was staying at Cayee through the storm, was today the known dead there total sixty-four. Previous estimates had placed the number at fifty.

At Guyana fourteen persons were killed in a church under construction. They sought shelter within its uncompleted walls and the structure collapsed. All told there were at least sixty dead in that city.

The police have found evidence of the grief and despair of many in the epidemic of suicides which has followed the hurricane. Four persons killed themselves yesterday and four others attempted to take their lives.

BAHAMAS ESCAPE FULL OF HURRICANE

NASSAU (Bahamas) B. W. I. Sept. 17. (P.)—Forty-eight hours after the hurricane struck this region, no loss of life has been reported. Only a few injuries have come to light. The property damage is heavy so far as electric light and telephone wires are concerned. Many houses were unroofed, but shipping was well secured in advance and did not suffer severely.

The storm was as intense as the 1926 blow and at its height the wind, it is estimated, reached a rate of at least 100 miles an hour.

SAN FRANCISCO STEAMER ENCOUNTERS HURRICANE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18. (P.)—The Marine Department of the Chamber of Commerce is advised today that the steamer Munabeaver, which left here Aug. 24, had arrived at San Juan, P. R., with cargo secured and its decks damaged. It escaped the hurricane when it swept over the West Indies.

MEXICO AIR MAIL RATE FIXED

KIDNAPED CHILD FREED BY GANG

William Ranieri of Chicago Released Near Joliet

Boy Escapes Any Injury in Thirteen-Day Ordeal

Ransom Idea Abandoned by Italian Abductors

CHICAGO, Sept. 18. (Exh.)—William Ranieri, 10-year-old boy who was held for $15,000 ransom for thirteen days, was freed tonight without the ransom having been paid. He was unharmed and in his worse for his experience as he talked with Deputy Sheriff McKeon at Joliet.

He had been put out of an automobile a mile north of Lockport at about 11 o'clock and he walked to an oil station and told attendant George Mate: "I want to go home; I've been kidnapped."

The freezing of the little boy followed a series of tentative proposals made surreptitiously in which the Mafia gangsters dickered for immunity from prosecution.

The abductors at first had demanded $15,000 as the price of the boy's return and the lad's father, A. Frank Ranieri, a modesty prosperous Italian sewer contractor, had pleaded that he could raise no such sum but had indicated a willingness to pay $5,000.

A threat to behead the child and send the severed head to the father in $15,000 was not paid by Saturday, had caused the parents to be nearly frantic.

When found, the boy had a bloodshot eye which had been discolored.

"They hit me over the head when they dragged me in the machine and that's where I got the black eye," he said.

"Were they good to you?" asked

DOLLAR TO BUILD TWO SHIPS

Turbo-Electric Liners Projected for Service Between Points of Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18. (AP)—Capt. Robert Dollar, president of Dollar Steamship Lines, announced here today that his company would build two turbo-electric liners for the trans-Pacific service.

These liners, he said, will be patterned after the Panama-Pacific liner California, a 22,000-ton ship operating between San Francisco and New York via the Panama Canal.

That the projected liners may be built in America, may mean a wait for better prices.

Under the Jones-White Act, a shipping concern may borrow money from the government for construction of ships up to a fixed major portion of their value. The Dollar Line also is negotiating with the government for trans-Pacific mail contracts over three routes.

"Electricity is proving its use in ship propulsion," said. "The Panama-Pacific Line, a subsidiary of International Mercantile Marine, has decided to build a fleet of six ships like the California and is building two more like it now."

The Dollar trans-Pacific service operates between the coast and Manila.

"Did the woman know why you were there?"

"She kept saying all the time that my father would come for me soon."

Earlier in the evening Chicago police said they expected the boy would be found some time during the night. Telephone calls were received asking what the police attitude would be if the boy were given back to his parents. They had made no promises, but suggested that prosecution would be up to the father.

His questioning then proceeded: "Any women at the house?"

"Yes, one."

"What kind of a place was it?"

"A dark room. They had cloth over the window. I didn't go to bed."

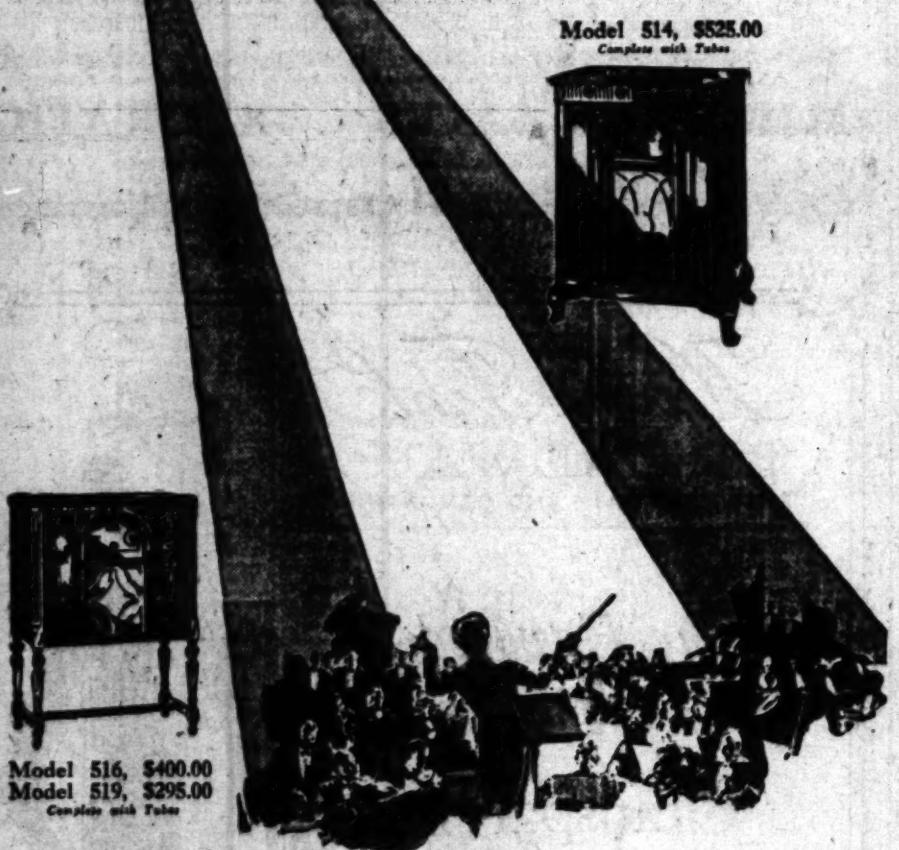

"Why?"

"They put me in a corner on the floor and kept me there all the time."

DEMOCRATIC LEADER BOLTS

Miss Smith, Glendale State Committeewoman, Says Governor's Election Would be Retrogressive

GLENDALE, Sept. 18. (Exclusive)—Definitely repudiating her allegiance to the Democratic party and its efforts to place Gov. Smith in the White House, because of the moral and political retrogression that Smith's election would entail, Miss Elizabeth Flournoy Smith of 505 North Louise street, a member and assistant secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee and a member of the Democratic Executive Committee, today forwarded her resignation of these positions to H. H. McIlveen, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, and announced her intention to work for the election of Herbert Hoover.

Miss Smith's letter to McIlveen: "not see how the Tammany Hall and the women voters of this country can have any appeal, particularly to the women voters of this country. There is nothing in it that promises anything of a progressive character—on the contrary it promises retrogression, politically and morally. As a Democrat, I see nothing in it to support, and I think the party will be immensely better off with an overwhelming defeat in this campaign of Gov. Smith."

"As the present campaign progresses it becomes more and more apparent that it is managed and directed by Tammany Hall, and that Tammany is now in complete charge, at least temporarily, of the party of the nation. I have no sympathy with such an organization, and cannot countenance its infamous record or what it stands for in the present campaign. From my own viewpoint, I can-

McNary-Haugen bill, twice vetoed by President Coolidge.

"What remains of the McNary-Haugen bill is a mere matter of semantics. The Democratic nominees asserted in an address prepared for delivery in the audience, "and I do not limit myself to the exact mechanics and method embodied in that bill."

Just before making this declaration, Gov. Smith said, in his prepared text:

"Principles INDORED
"As I read the McNary-Haugen bill, its fundamental purpose is to establish an effective control of the sale of exportable surplus with the cost imposed upon the commodity benefited."

"For that principle the Democratic platform squarely stands, and for that principle I squarely stand. Mr. Hoover stands squarely opposed to this principle, by which the farmer could get the benefit of the tariff."

"Expressing the view that "here is a clean-cut issue, which the farmers and voters of the country must decide," the New York Governor reiterated that the details by which the principle should be put into effect alone remain to be worked out, and he again promised, if elected, to name a non-partisan commission of farm leaders and students of the problem to determine the exact method of relief."

PRINCIPLE INDORED
"I pledge to the farmers and to the people of this country," he added, "that no stone will be left unturned to give immediate and adequate farm relief, by legislation carrying into practice this definite principle for which my party and state."

In his prepared text, the Democratic Presidential candidate made no direct reference to the equalization fee provision of the McNary-Haugen bill, which President Coolidge branded unconstitutional.

(P)—Four "fundamental laws of the regime" will be solemnly voted by the present Italian Chamber of Deputies at its last sitting of 1933, Premier Mussolini today told the grand council of the National Fascist party.*One of these new laws will give the grand council legal and constitutional status as an element of the government. The council, termed by some an oligarchy, has been the directing power behind the Fascist government of Italy. Only these two companies distribute Genuine Ethyl Gasoline

New-day high compression motors have more than ever made this anti-knock fuel a necessity

In 1926, the Ethyl Corporation, with offices in New York City, selected the Associated Oil Company and the Union Oil Company as exclusive distributors of Ethyl gasoline on the Pacific Coast. They alone market the anti-knock fuel built up for high compression motors.

This remarkable fuel has made high compression motors possible.
Thousands of motorists are daily turning to Ethyl for positive efficiency in motor performance.

Why Ethyl Means More Power

With the combustion chamber in your motor made smaller and the gasoline-air mixture compressed 20 to 40

pounds per square inch more than ever before it is necessary to control the rate at which this mixture burns, in order to give the pistons a smooth, powerful and sustained push on the down stroke. Ethyl in gasoline does this perfectly.

Ethyl... A Scientific Development

Ethyl fluid was developed after 7 years' experiments in the great research laboratories of the General Motors Corporation. Leading automobile engineers and racing men collaborated in this development.

The Ethyl gasoline you use today is not an experiment. It is the proven anti-knock fuel for present-day motors.

From the pumps of these companies only can you get genuine Ethyl gasoline on the Pacific Coast

BUILDING-LOAN YEAR REVIEWED

Annual Report of California Commissioner Out

Assets Increase for Period Given as $74,265,243

Thirty-one New Associations Swell Total to 216

Resources of California building-loan associations for the fiscal year closed June 30, last, recorded the greatest increase of any year previously with a gain of $74,265,243, or more than 20 per cent, to a total of $377,705,757 according to the annual report submitted yesterday to Gov. Young by George S. Walker, State Building and Loan Commissioner.

Standardization as to interest rates on loans, interest to be paid on investors' certificates and dividends on shares, in various associations, is an important recommendation of the commissioner's report.

"Five associations have reduced their rates to borrowers and also reduced interest and dividends payable on investment certificates," the report states. "This reduction by a few is being noticed with great interest by all, many of whom recognize by this time that by reducing the business on a more conservative basis, it is now quite probable that before long 'a per cent and safety' will become a building-loan slogan."

Loans were issued to thirty-one new building-loan associations during the fiscal year, and at the end of the year, 212 institutions were active, Mr. Walker reports. During the period, seventeen associations retired, being absorbed or consolidated with other institutions.

The number of shareholders increased $1,228 or 24 per cent to a total of 225,160. The average investment in individual units remaining below $750,000 increased to 92,400. The average loan to each being $2,093. During the year $1,906 real estate loans were made and 4879 new share loans were reported. The number of loans for building purposes amounted to 10,465 bringing the total from 1924 to date to 40,000.

Increased building-loan assets in the State having more than $1,000,000 in building-loan assets, five more than a year ago. Sixty-eight associations are now in the $1,000,000 class against sixty-one a year ago. Five increased their assets over $2,000,000 in the year while thirteen scored gains in the year of more than $1,000,000.

SILK FUTURES ADVANCE

MARLAND STATUS IMPROVED

Dividends May be Resumed at Coming Meeting of Finance Committee; Book Losses Taken

BY EARL E. CROWE

As part of the growing tendency in the stock market to look for more liberal treatment of stockholders in the larger oil companies, the name of the Marland Oil Company is prominently mentioned as a likely candidate for early resumption of dividends. The Marland stockholders have not received payments since March 31, 1927, and have patiently borne with the management while several losses were written off in a readjustment of accounting policies.

Members of the finance committee are scheduled to meet shortly, and it is expected that the dividend question will come up for serious consideration at this meeting. George Whiteman of J. M. Moran & Co., W. C. Potter of the Guaranty Trust of New York, V. W. Taylor of Pittsburgh and E. W. Marland are the men who will make the decision. The fact that the accounting readjustments have been made, and the earnings will run around $3 a share for the year, are points in favor of the stockholders.

Substitutions in the list include American Tobacco, Consolidated Gas, Great Northern, Rockwood and Rockwood and Standard Oil of New Jersey, in place of American Car and Foundry, Baldwin Locomotive, Republic Iron and Steel, United States Rubber, Utah Copper and Westinghouse Electric.

At the same time the use of a standard divisor has been adopted, and the necessity of multiplying the number of shares outstanding by the number of shares outstanding, placing the business on a more conservative basis. It is now quite probable that before long 'a per cent and safety' will become a building-loan slogan."

Holders of St. Paul Rail Issue Warned Time Limit for Exchange Up Soon

Y. Evening Post, Inc., company are in themselves valuable, they have real worth in that they may be exchanged for new stocks and bonds by payment of assessments. A prejudice against assessments may have prevented some holders from availing themselves of the exchange privilege, it is pointed out.

Under the foreclosure decree the bonds will be entitled only to a distribution value of about 49 per cent, while the new securities issued under the exchange plan that are to be issued to those failing to deposit will be worth more than 80 per cent with cash adjustment, are now worth more than 80 per cent in the market. The old preferred and common shares to be exchanged, after deducting assessments, have a market equity of about $49 a share for the preferred and $33 a share for the common.

LONDON, Sept. 18. (By Wireless) Excepting copper and copper shares, which were inclined to improve, most of the markets were dull and inactive today. Nevertheless the manner in which prices held, even when business slackened, was strongly indicative of a sound technical position.

Oils were rather better, but Gramophones and other industrials were neglected. The close was quiet and uncertain with special weakness in rubber. Gramophones and other American international industrials ended rather better.

HOW PICKWICK EARNINGS GROW

An increase of only two passengers on each of the 514 schedules operated daily by the Pickwick Corporation, through its affiliated companies, would mean an increase of over $1,000,000 per year in net revenues.

It is small wonder, then, that far-sighted investors are purchasing and holding the Preferred and Common Shares of the Pickwick Corporation—whose net earnings have shown such a tremendous growth in recent years. Dividends are paid quarterly.

Inquiries are always welcome from investors.

Mystery Shack, Boys' Shoes Found in 'Death Farm' Hunt

OFFICERS TAKEN TO CANYON HUT

Clark Lad Leads Them Also to Filled-up Well

Net Being Drawn Closer on Northcott Fugitives

Other Clews Being Revealed in Gruesome Case

The trail of Gordon Stewart Northcott, the much-sought youth in the Riverside "murder farm" investigation, led to Mint Canyon yesterday afternoon, and near there deputy sheriffs located a "mystery shack" in which were found three pairs of boys' shoes, one pair of which partially was burned. It was discovered also that a well near the shack recently had been filled in.

The shack or cabin is asserted to have been occupied by Northcott for a time several months ago and officers were led to the place by Sanford Clark, whose story of the asserted human butchery on the Northcott ranch near Riverside precipitated an exhaustive search for the supposed victims.

Deputy Sheriffs Mendosa, Sepulveda and Ybarra, working under direction of Capt. Wright of the homicide division, made a careful examination of the filled-in well on the cabin site and found that a fire had been built in it below the four-foot level. Today they will return to the place and excavate the well to its original depth.

SHOES DISCOVERED
Near a chicken house, approximately 100 feet from the four-room cabin, the shoes, which are about the size for boys of from 9 to 11 years of age, were found in a pile of debris which had a burning. Two of the shoes had not been harmed and are in condition to be identified.

A mattress, of the presence of which Clark previously informed officers, was found to have had four square pieces approximately four inches square cut out of the corners of the pad and the straw scooped out for a depth of two or three inches immediately below the hole.

Bits of the excavated straw were found in the firebox of the six-burner wood and coal stove in the kitchen.

OTHER THINGS FOUND

A khaki coat which police said also contained bloodstains was found on the bare table in the front room. Bones dug out of a dog's pile were brought in for examination, but are believed to be animal bones.

Identification of the shack by young Clark was made on the return trip to Los Angeles after the officers had dug past it and all they saw was to Palmdale, more than thirty miles beyond.

Suspicious that the boy might have picked out the cabin on the way east, officers made him give them a minute description of its interior before it was opened. Clark scored perfectly in his description and his talk in naming places on the way east was explained by him as the result of having made only one visit there, and that nearly nine months ago.

EXPLANATION MADE

The cabin was rented by Northcott from a rancher who lives near Lancaster, and was to be used by him, he told Clark, for "expeditions" to a mine he said he had near there.

It was at this mine, Northcott related to Clark, according to the latter's story, that he aided one miner in the slaying of his partner, and which resulted later in bringing about the Collins boy's death because of his presence there and fear that he might talk.

OTHER EVENTS

Other outstanding developments yesterday in the investigation of the asserted murders of the "real" Walter Collins, kidnapped last March, and of Louis and Nelson Winslow of Pomona, were:

(1) The announcement by two

DEATH PENALTY FOR PRICE

Slayer of Asserted Sweetheart Convicted by Jury of Nine Women and Three Men in Aggeler's Court

By a verdict returned yesterday in Judge Aggeler's court, Jack H. Price must pay with his life for the murder July 24, last, of Maurelli Adams, his asserted common-law wife. It was the second death verdict to be returned in the local Superior Court in four days, the defendant in both cases being charged with killing their asserted sweethearts.

Price, who will come before the court Friday for sentence, was charged with having shot Mrs. Adams at Twelfth and Crocker streets shortly after she had left the place of her employment.

The jury of nine women and three men deliberated an hour and forty-five minutes in reaching the verdict.

An unusual feature developed after the jury had returned its verdict. Price withdrew a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity of the crime. With the disposition of this plea Price was held in awaiting the death penalty in obtaining a new trial or in obtaining of executive clemency.

Deputy Public Defenders Emerson and Bird represented Price at the day of the shooting and could Chief Investigator Quinn and for-merly charged Gordon Stuart Northcott, his son, and his mother, Mrs. Louise Northcott, with the murder of one "John Doe."

Investigator Quinn said last night that the complaint based on revelations covering the finding of the headless body of a Mexican youth some time ago near Puebla, but that it would cover any murder that young Clark has told police Northcott committed.

The two axes in the Northcott cellar at the Britannia-street home here were stained with blood, police said. Other bloodstains were found on the cellar steps, the detectives reported, and neighbors declared the elder Northcott borrowed a hose last Wednesday night, washed down the street, and at midnight Northcott admitted to police that he borrowed the hose, but denied knowing anything about the axes and the chopping block. He explained that he wet down the cellar and steps to stop fleas, but failed to explain the midnight hour, the police said.

Police plan to question the girl further in the hope of learning the possible whereabouts of the Northcott.

Mrs. Louise Northcott, traveling alone, was seen in Jasper House, Alta., yesterday. Riverside police were informed, and the message said that Alberta police believe the woman is trying to catch a boat for Alaska.

A young man closely answering the description of young Northcott was in Seattle yesterday, according to advices to the authorities, hunting for work on a vessel going to South America. This information was supplied by the cashier of the McCormick Steamship Company, who said he referred the applicant to the captain of the "W. T. Ladd," loading at Port Ludlow for South American points. Police are investigating the report.

KELLEY STOICAL WHEN DOOMED

Defendant Sentenced to be Hanged November 23

Appeal Notice Served After Refusal of New Trial

Defense Promises Battle on Mellus Case Verdict

Charges of misconduct of the jury that convicted Leo Pat Kelley of the murder of Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, and pleas of newly discovered evidence yesterday failed to impress Superior Judge Bowron, who denied the motion for a new trial made by Kelley's attorney, S. S. Hahn, and forthwith sentenced the defendant to be hanged at San Quentin Prison on Friday, November 23, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Kelley accepted his fate stoically as the court pronounced sentence, whispering a few words to his attorney after the judge had finished. Attorney Hahn served an oral notice of appeal.

CHARGES MADE

In presenting the motion for a new trial, the defense attorneys cited sixteen different reasons why Kelley should be given another hearing. Outstanding reasons given follow:

(1.) That the jury was guilty of misconduct by which a fair and due consideration of the case was prevented.

(2.) That the Deputy District Attorney in charge of the prosecution was guilty of misconduct during the progress of the trial, prejudicing the rights of the defendant.

(3.) That new evidence has been discovered material to the defendant.

(4.) That the court expressed opinions during the course of the trial prejudicial to the rights of the defendant.

(5.) That the evidence shows the defendant to be not guilty of the degree of the crime of which he was convicted.

JURORS ACCUSED

It also was charged that the court erred in matters of law concerning the admission of testimony and evidence.

When presenting his argument on the motion for a new trial, Attorney Hahn charged that the court of his attack charging that at least one of the jurors had expressed himself as determined to hang Kelley before the trial started. He also charged that he had three witnesses to prove that members of the jury had discussed the case among themselves contrary to the instructions of the court and had been in contact with outsiders.

The defense counsel requested a brief continuance of the hearing on the new trial motion to enable them to obtain affidavits from three persons attesting to their charges of misconduct of the jury but Judge Bowron denied the request.

ORDERED TO PRISON
After passing sentence, the court remanded Kelley to the custody of the Sheriff, ordering him to be transported to San Quentin prison within the next ten days.

The same changes made in Superior Court yesterday in the fight for a new trial will be presented to the Supreme Court, supported by affidavits in an effort to reverse the decision of the lower court, defense counsel announced last night.

At 3 p.m. today another phase of the Kelley trial will be brought out when Dist. Atty. Thomas and Pete Pedrotti, an investigator, are scheduled to appear before Superior Judge Fricks on a contempt-of-court citation.

DELAY CAUSED

The two men are accused of attempting to intimidate a defense witness. Attorney Hahn, who obtained the citation, charged that Pedrotti approached a witness in his office stating that he had been sent by Dist. Atty. Thomas to tell him that if he testified in the case the prosecution would revive an old case against him that had been dismissed.

The hearing originally was scheduled for Monday last, but was continued until today because of the illness of Pedrotti.

At the close of the case yesterday, despite the optimistic predictions of defense counsel, James P. Costello and A. S. Colegrove, Deputy District Attorneys who prosecuted the case, asserted that they are confident that the conviction will be upheld by the Supreme Court.

The art and crafts department occupies half of the fine-arts building and is planned, arranged and managed by Miss Letta Horlock of Los Angeles.

SUSPECTS SEEN

Dispatches from Vancouver, B. C., yesterday, indicated that a Mrs. Northcott was seen in the city Sunday night, accompanied by Mrs. Winnie Clarke of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, and mother of Sanford Clark. A rooming-house operator told police that the trio left in a taxicab, number unknown, a bellboy at the hotel known as Walter Collins never was in California, never attended California schools, but comes from some Illinois section, probably Chicago. The peculiar "r" in the recent letters is not taught in any California schools, the handwriting expert said.

THE MAJOR ISSUE

There is no longer any doubt as to the major issue in the present Presidential campaign: the speech of Hoover at Newark, N. J., definitely set forth the most vital question that confronts the American people. That great question is whether prosperity and general well-being shall continue, develop, and expand under the guidance of the same forces which have wrought the achievements of the last seven years, or whether there shall be a change which might bring about business havoc.

Questions of prohibition, of farm relief, of tariff, of immigration, are all important, but chiefly in their relation to national prosperity and as they contribute to the general welfare, moral and material. This alone is paramount and all-embracing and Hoover has put it in its proper place.

His address was most preponderant, able, therefore, perhaps, to appreciate its force better than some other sections, but to thinking men everywhere this demonstration of the close interlocking of all the interests of all the citizens of the nation will appeal greatly and must be convincing. It is being maintained by the opposition that the people of New Jersey are interested principally in beer; this is probably a libel; but if there has been any truth in it they now have something else to think about.

The important thing for every American to consider is whether the general welfare is more likely to be advanced by methods which have already proved their worth, or whether the program of national advancement already laid out shall be abandoned and resort had to a series of experiments of which the only clew as to their probable outcome is the fact that similar experiments in the past have always had disastrous results.

This program has been largely worked out by Hoover himself, in co-operation with other leaders of the Republican party. It must be plain that the principal architect of American prosperity best understands these plans and knows best how to follow them. That Smith is an able man, that he would do his best to promote prosperity, may be conceded without shattering the force of the argument that Hoover understands the situation better than any other living man and is best qualified to solve the problems that arise.

Hoover is not talking in Utopian language when he speaks of the possibility of abolishing poverty. The text of this speech proves that there is a practicable method for accomplishing it, and that Hoover can make that method work.

His recital of the various steps that have already been taken on the road to the goal is too long to be repeated here, too intricate for condensation; but the contrast he drew between conditions of 1921, when the Republican party assumed the administration of the government and there were 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 unemployed, and those of 1928, in which average incomes and standards of living are the highest in the world, is the most striking parallel of the recital and suffices for an illustration. He shows definitely the parts played by the tariff, by immigration restriction, by the use of devices to obtain greater production, by the elimination of waste, by foreign trade, by co-operation between producers, in bringing about the present highly satisfactory conditions, and points out methods by which the lagging industries, agriculture, bituminous coal and textiles, may be brought up to the level of the others.

His remarks concerning immigration are especially cogent, since Smith in his acceptance speech indicated that he favors doing away with some of the immigration restrictions. Hoover says flatly that he opposes any increase in immigration. "With the bars of immigration down," he declared, "the flow of those seeking relief from the poverty of Europe would create a horde of job-hunters around every employment office and every industrial gate in the United States. The pressure of this flood would break the Spanish yoke, and some years later founded a constitutional government of its own. The occasion is one in which all patriotic Americans have a sympathetic interest. The Yankees of the North are in thorough accord with the Yankees of the South, pushing their fortunes so successfully along lines we ourselves have adopted.

Some thirty-four years later than ourselves in breaking from the leading strings of Europe, the Chileans have always been aggressive in developing their inheritance and have achieved a firm and friendly relationship with their South American neighbors, the last obstacle being removed by Secretary Kellogg's adjustment of the long standing dispute with Peru over Tacna-Arica. Because of the fine spirit shown both by Peru and Chile and because of the part the United States took in bringing to an end the irritating rivalry our relations with Chile have latterly been on a better footing than ever before.

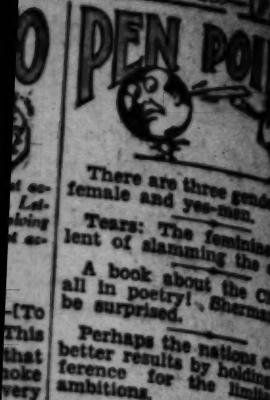

The tariff, that perennial of discussion, is likewise one of the corner-stones of present prosperity, Hoover maintained, saying: "The protective tariff has been a fundamental policy of the Republican party ever since the party was founded. Against it the Democratic party has bat- tled." It is the Democratic party that has batted for this cause for many years.

"Two months ago their platform hinted that they thought we might be right. However, they declared for a tariff which would maintain effective competition. That must mean a tariff which would maintain effective competition of foreign against American goods. That is not protection. . . . The re-enactment of that tariff (the Underwood schedules) would let in a flood of foreign goods, destroy employment and reduce the market for manufacturers and farmers all over the United States."

Thus Hoover speaks out, boldly, on every issue; but what is valuable in his address is the showing that these issues are but parts of a whole, that in them the real question is only partly involved.

The real issue is prosperity, the general welfare; and Hoover is the man best fitted to deal with it. He knows how and why.

a corking fight by a knockout in the fourth round from Louis Contreras.

SPEDY DADU WINNER
Dadu, who seems to have recovered completely from that dislocated shoulder which forced him to quit in his fight here with Newby Brown several months ago, was a regular whirlwind in action.

He was all over Contreras in the first round and scored a knockdown with a right to the chin. Contreras was on the floor for eight seconds. He got up and moved to a central position until the fourth when he was nailed with another right to the chin. He was up at nine this time, but when Dadu got him on the ropes and was pounding him with lefts and rights to the face his seconds tased in the towel.

The main event boys scaled at 100 for Fernandes and 129 1/4 for Billy Burke of Oakland referred.

The other bouts resulted as follows:

Will Fausto defeated Dick McDaniels, four rounds, after having the floor for eight in the second heat.

Wendy Long won from Art Cushing four rounds.

Goldie Hess trounced Billy Hart in eight rounds. Hart was substituting for Joe Mancillas. He was on the floor for seven from a left hook in the second round.

The house was just fair.

This will be the first contest that this crack little L.A.C.A. boxer has been in since his return from the Olympic Games.

PORT LEASE AMENDMENT PROTESTED

City Club Speaker Holds Harbor Frontage Should Not Rent for Long Terms

Opposition was voiced yesterday by speakers at the City Club to an amendment to the city charter which the Harbor Commission has asked the City Council to place on the November ballot. The Council has until the 28th inst. to decide on the proposal.

The suggested amendment includes the proposal to put all tide-lands under jurisdiction of the Harbor Commission, to make optional with the Harbor Board the extension of thirty-year leases to its usual arrangement. The new men and five women tentatively selected to hear the case were dismissed from further service in the action when Judge Schmidt quashed the indictment.

Pending reopening of the case by the grand jury the defendants were remanded to the custody of the Sheriff. It is expected the grand jury will take up the case when it meets today.

Two other indictments pending against Wickersham and McEnry were ordered continued to October 2, next for trial and transferred to Presiding Judge Edmonds' court. Wickersham, McEnry and Fisher are accused of having defrauded Mrs. Neumann in connection with business deals involving a gold mine and other promotional ventures.

Taking issue with Messrs. Beaton and Henning, S. A. Jubb declared that the interests of Los Angeles and of the entire Southwest must be taken into consideration, and that the thirty-year lease never should be extended.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION Refuses to Back Member in Private Deal

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSIONERS P... man, Stoneman and Ellis yesterday refused to give their indorsement to the "Whom the Ingrity" of their fellow commissioner, C. Kenyon, when the question was presented to them in a communication from the Thomson Digg Company of Sacramento.

The commissioners had passed on a number of matters and when the government to first require their indorsement it was turned down on the ground the commission had nothing to do with private business.

"Isn't this Kenyon the one on our commission?" asked President Fryman. It was decided that he was.

That doesn't make any difference," said Commissioner Stoneman, whose motion of refusing indorsement caused the negative action.

The latter explained that Kenyon had recently purchased a home resort at Lake Tahoe, which has been named in connection with the name of the Thomson Digg Company.

HEALTH AND DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy

AUTHOR OF "THE FIRST WAY TO HEALTH."

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of the Los Angeles Times.

Include stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

A BLACK EYE

A black eye, to a person who has not a sense of humor, is an unfortunate affliction, and is apt to be a subject of jest at the hands of friends. The best thing to do under these circumstances is to grin and admit the worst.

Doctors have termed this condition "ecchymosis palpebrarum," which means a discoloration of the skin of the eyelids by a bruise, which allows the escape of blood from the minute blood vessels into the tissues of the eyelids.

The tissues about the eye are particularly susceptible to bruising, since they are very soft and have hard bones of the cheek and the ridge bone of the eye socket just beneath the skin. The skin is thin and easily crushed, the flesh and causes a severe bruise. Individuals having high cheek bones are more apt to receive a black eye from a blow than those without the prominent bony ridge formation.

A black eye usually requires from one to two weeks for the absorption of most of the blood, and usually some discoloration remains from three weeks to a month longer, but there is much difference between individuals. Those having a good circulation do not suffer much from puffiness and the discoloration does not last long. Others with poorer circulation may have badly swollen eyelids that remain colored for a much longer time.

When you are first struck in the eye by the "doorknob" or "gold ball," it is advisable to apply cold compression immediately and firmly for at least an hour. Ice water is the most satisfactory, since it will greatly retard the flow of blood into the tissue. The good old-fashioned remedy of applying raw steak to the eye had its virtue in the fact that it was cool

After two or three days, when all danger of increasing the hemorrhage of the blood under the skin is over, you may begin a gentle massage about the eye to assist in the absorption of the blood. Spook Writer Revealed at Last in Play

One of the mysteries of "The Wooden Kimono" is the identity of the author of "The Haunted Hatpin" and other mystery yarns. Three characters assume the role of the author and when the real one is disclosed the surprise equals that of the solving of the strange murder which takes place at the end of the haunted tavern.

In "The Wooden Kimono," which the Henry Duffy Players are presenting at the President, an author comes to the gloomy inn on a rainy evening determined to solve the mystery of the three murders that occurred in the place five years ago. The motives of this intruder furnish most of the weird events in the play in which smugglers and peddlars of narcotics also are concerned.

Pom Pom Will Sign Winner

The girl who wins the Spanish beauty parade at the Mission Playhouse in San Gabriel Sunday will be awarded a week's contract to appear at the new "Bal Tabarin" to open at the Pom Pom, Hollywood, just made by William Meiklejohn, producer, with the California Vineyard Association, which is conducting the affair.

This contest will be a feature of the Vendimia, old-fashioned grape festival, with members of the Mission Play cast and a troupe of Indian dancers contributing to the program.

Spanish and Mexican beauties from Los Angeles and Hollywood, as well as Long Beach, Santa Barbara, Pasadena, Ontario, Alhambra, Pomona, Riverside, and other nearby towns have entered the competition, the judges of which will be John Steven Acciari, one of the young Spanish stars of "White Shadows" and Herbert Spencer, president of the Ontario Grape Growers' Association. The winner will make her debut at the Pom Pom Monday night.

Doheny Protege Vindicates Self

E. L. Doheny and Mrs. Doheny expressed deep gratification in the development and success of their young protege, Joseph Regan, after hearing him sing last night at the Orpheum, when he was one of the headlining attractions this week.

Three years ago they heard this young Irish lad at the old Orpheum and his fine tenor voice, likable personality, and ability impressed them to such an extent that they adopted him as a protege and sent him to Italy for two years of study. This is the second time since his return. It is probable that he will soon enter the concert field with a serious effort toward the crown of John McCormack.

Barrie's Choice Now Plays Here

Joan MacLean, who is the Louka of the Edward Everett Horton production of "Arms and the Man" at the Vine Street Theater, says being in California is about the nicest thing that has happened to me since I came to America. You know I had gotten as far as Chicago with Mr. Al Woods' company of "The Man With the Red Hair" and I just couldn't resist the temptation to hop on a train for Hollywood, and here I am.

One thing that is nice about that ever since is that her husband, J. M. Barnes, picked her to play "Peter Pan" in the annual Christmas production of that play at the St. James Theater in London. It is the ambition of every English girl's life to fill this role.

Nagel's next part role is in "State Street Sadie" the Vitaphone talking picture which opens at Warner Brothers' Theater Monday.

Star Appears in First Dual Role

Thursday night Fred Sutton is reopening the Kit Kat Club with Carolynne Snowden and her eighteen Creole beauties as the feature attraction.

Redecorating the club throughout and adding new luxuries to comfort for the enjoyment of his guests, Sutton expects the club to be the mecca for many merrymakers.

"A hotter than hot band" Leon Rene and his associates, from the St. Charles Hotel, New Orleans, will furnish the syncopation.

"Heart Trouble?" Here's Reason

Raquel Torres

Doris Dawson
Is the briefly-seen but powerful cause of Harry Langdon's cardiac perturbation in his latest comedy, current at the Boulevard Theater. The winsome little actress will appear in person tonight.

"BATTLE OF SEXES" OPENS

His second film production since he returned to Hollywood to resume his career as one of the outstanding directors of the screen, D. W. Griffith's "The Battle of the Sexes" will have its premier showing here when it opens for an indefinite engagement at the United Artists Theater today.

Based on an epic of the modern American home, "The Battle of the Sexes" was adapted from the widely read Daniel Carson Goodman story by Gerrit J. Lloyd, who has scenarioized many Griffith productions. Pathos and humor intermingled, in the unique Griffith style, and many highly dramatic moments set the film apart as something out of the ordinary.

Novelty Film Tells Tabloid Story of Life

"Scrapped: A Life Story in Tabloid" is the latest thing in experimental film drama. It is a one-reel novelty, produced by Hollywood studio workers at a cost of $297.

The picture differs from other "pocket" productions in that it does not use trick photography, cardboard sets, futuristic trimmings, merely one incident or situation. The story is woven about a cheap car and the part it plays in the lives of its owners. It brings about the meeting of a man and a girl, their marriage, and the happiness and trials of their married life.

With the exception of a brief prologue, there are no titles.

The film was written and directed by H. A. Woodward and photographed by Joe Darrill. In the cast are Ned La Salle, Mignon Rutherford and Baby Jimmie Kelly.

Curiosity of Fans Aroused in Fox Talkie

With the opening of William Fox's first Movietone talking picture, "Mother Knows Best," only six days away, the demand for reservations for the premiere Monday evening, is unprecedented in the history of the theater, the management computes.

The advance information regarding this feature directed by John Blystone and featuring Madge Bellamy, Louise Dresser and Barry Norton, is that it is most unusual. The farinette step forward in talking pictures."

Fred Miller is arranging a program to meet the demand in fifteen minutes of George Bernard Shaw via the Movietone exclusive Movietone shorts, and Carl Elmer's orchestra in concert.

Star Appears in First Dual Role

For the first time in his career in motion pictures, Conrad Nagel is playing a twin-brother role.

Few players who have been prominent in pictures for any duration of time escape such a portrayal, which some time in their careers they selected to be both father and son in a "in the picture. Hence Nagel's debut in a twin role promises to be interesting, and especially since the two roles in this instance differ greatly.

Nagel's next part role is in "State Street Sadie" the Vitaphone talking picture which opens at Warner Brothers' Theater Monday.

STORY ON SKATERS WANTED

Indicating that the fame of the Rollerdrone has spread even to the East, Fred Frawley, president, recently by the editor of one of the prominent film magazines for material on the film players who frequent the Washington-Boulevard "Terror" Vitaphone talking picture which opens at Warner Brothers' Theater Monday.

"A hotter than hot band" Leon Rene and his associates, from the St. Charles Hotel, New Orleans, will furnish the syncopation.

Thespians of America Meet to Celebrate

Ye Veteran Thespians of America, an organization composed of stage players now in Hollywood and following the screen, who have been in the profession twenty-five years or more, celebrated their first anniversary this week with a large reunion, at the Altman Art Galleries in Hollywood, to which families and friends were bidden. In addition to the exchange of happy memories of trouping there was an attractive musical program, presented by Betty Parslow and Zulene Brandon. Harry English of National Vaudeville Association, Adelbert Knott, one of the veteran members, Dame Harris of the City, Mothers and others contributed brief talks of felicitation and reminiscence and a session before the cameras also offered excitement as well. Sam E. Allen, founder of the association, presided and acted as host for the afternoon.

In the past year the idea has excited much interest in other cities, where professional folk foregather, and similar chapters are being or have been organized in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago and other points. Professional record of the club, however, other considerations appear to be emphasized mostly, and the distractions of the feminine contingent is avoided by the exclusion of the ladies from membership and their admission to but one meeting, the annual affair, each year.

The stage is no place for a purist—at least in matters of grammar and rhetoric, according to Lawrence Grant of the "Mid-Channel" company now in its last week at the Belasco Theater.

"Peter Mottram," declares the actor who plays him, "talks as he does because Pinoe intended him to. The present production, while it may be contrary to the dictionary's, is notwithstanding very marked idiosyncrasies of certain very smart English people—and Pinoe purposely intended that Peter be his favorite character, by the way—should talk that way."

Specifically, Grant relates, he is guilty nightly of such expressions as "ain't it?" and "don't it?" and of such a mispronunciation as "asoon-in" for "assuming."

"And there is no defense for this custom," he concludes, "any more than there is for the pronunciation of 'gir' as 'pael' by all educated English people."

Two Would Be Chico, Diane

Irving Mitchell and Helen Ferguson have petitioned Henry Duffy to stage a special matinee performance of "Seventh Heaven" during the run of "Lombardi, Ltd." in which Leo Carrillo is starring at the Belasco.

Mitchell's favorite role is Chico in "Seventh Heaven" and Miss Ferguson's ambition is to play Diane in the same play.

"The only trouble is that everybody wants to play it also," says Miss Ferguson. "I went out petitioning him and then Mr. Duffy told me that he had had a similar request from Thomas Chatterton and Helen Millard, who are playing the leads in his Vancouver company. So perhaps we won't be able to satisfy our wish—although even if I have to hire a theater, engage a company and secure the scenery, I am determined to play Diane sometime."

Sound-Making Called "An Art" by Leisen

Motion pictures, as well as musical numbers, now have their own composers, according to Mitchell Leisen, art director of "The Goddess Girl," now at the Biltmore.

The "composing" of sound pictures requires as much skill as does the creation of a sonata, though it does not require knowledge of musical techniques, according to Leisen, who has been associated with De Mille's "Goddess Girl," "The King of Kings" and "Ten Commandments."

The impossibility of recording incidental sounds from their original sources has led to the assigning of a specialist to interpolate the minor sounds into the continuous sequences.

"If you listen to western talkies let us say, it is necessary that the actors on the sound-proof stage hear a horse neighing just outside the window, the 'composer' working in the 'mixing room' just off the stage, puts in the neigh at exactly the right place in the record," Leisen writes. "Shows will depend on a real horse; it would be necessary not only to coax the animal to express himself, but the other noises coming in through the window would probably ruin the sound photography."

Shrine Spreads Joy in "Smile" Features

CHARLES MURRAY TRIES STAGE

Reportedly the largest sum ever paid for an engagement by the organization, a minimum guaranteed salary and percentage of receipts aggregating approximately $100,000, stipulated in the contract signed between Charlie Murray and the Fanchon and Marco, producers of Fanchon and Marco, the comedians of the films is to make a tour of the United States.

"Tempest" gives Barrymore the first story with a modern setting he has had in a number of years. The comedy will be the outstanding role of his career.
